

SIMPLIFICATION

by Francisco D. Coll

Having full involvement is what brings me peace in all waters. It unfolds to me hidden truths and treasures which have lain dormant ... but first I must “claim” it. I need to actively seek opportunity. And so my decision is made. My interest is full, my commitment is complete, and my time is effectively invested. Now I am truly ready to Learn and Grow in the water that nurtures me. Now I am not only doing what I come to do, but I am living every breath.

Life is simple. All I have to do is live it! There are no difficulties in the universe. Things move with complete ease, in and out of transformation. I am part of this universe. The more I accept that I am, that I have been, and that I will always be, the more I will live as an affluent spiritual wayshower. I do not have problems finding answers; I do not have difficulties with abundance. I already am a part of my needs and wants. All I have to do is organize myself enough to grasp them. It is that easy. My opportunity is to learn to be at ease inside, through all my experiences. With that power I will truly do what needs to be done in order to accomplish my mission. I do not judge, but rather evaluate things, based on my spiritual contract. In this way I will not Re-Act, I will simply Act. I will then be a giver in all situations, regardless of what I am doing.

I do not need to “Sacrifice” myself to have what I want or to fulfill my needs, but simply and constantly take action toward them. If I do not act on my inspirations, or if I habitually re-act to things, I will attract and create pressure. When pressure builds up, so may my fears. I will worry about doing something wrong or feel guilty about the past. That is what brings the complexities in life. If I worry or feel guilty, I will become all tied up inside. I will put valuable energy into something that isn't really tangible. And that is a waste of time. Rather, it is about embracing the journey that I have created. The facts are that if I have troubles, I must like them or need them – because once I outgrow those troubles they go away. This is my part in mastering my energy.

It is not me who fears involvement. I am not a fearful person; I was not born with fear ... so it must be “someone else's.” I love what I am and what I come to do. And when I find myself off my pivot, I regroup, I learn, and I get back on track better than I was before. Confusion moves away from me because I am willing to clarify my pivot and direction the moment I feel something is off. In other words, I do not pass up an opportunity to turn a negative into a positive. I have invested a great deal of time and energy to be here. I am the sum total of all my feelings and thoughts throughout eternity. I am clear, and with Clarity I take the challenge ... the challenge of my goals and my bigger picture.

Ignorance is the greatest thing I can hope to lose. As I do, I no longer trap myself with fears or habits that don't work for me. There is no need for me to allow or create trauma in my life so that I learn my lessons – I have already done that, and there are plenty of people who have helped pave the way for me. Intellectual rebellion is about programmed fear and ignorance, which is not me nor what I come to do.

It is natural for things to grow. When I stop feeling my love and growth I will attract things to test me, test me to see if I really want to be here. When I lose that love inside, I become weak in that area. It becomes like a black hole until it is purified. This is a law of the universe. A weakness is anything I do to hurt myself, and part of maturity is knowing my weakness needs purification, so I can master my energy. That is the way of the universe and spirit. That is transformation. That is the Real Me.

I do things because I am getting something out of it. Once I am loyal to myself I can be loyal to anything. Once I respect myself I respect all things. I can commit because I am committed. Before I do anything I need a feeling for it, and if I bypass my feelings I am complicating things.

So it is Loyalty to my True Feelings, Organize what I feel for Success and then Accomplish the Fulfillment. Simplification is not about what is simple; Simplification is the action of creating and Keeping It Simple Spiritual. Simplification is my willingness, involvement and declaration to be in the flow of spirit and abundance.
